DAY 1 2024

ON YOUR MARK GET SET.....

On the 12th of August several young leaders from many schools have joined us for day 1 of the YLC 2024. The registration desk welcomed the fellows in the entry tunnel instead of the quadrangle thanks to the spoilsport rain. The photo booth which was to be adorning the naturally lit corner was forced inside the essar auditorium and the proceedings followed. While addressing the fellows, Ms. Vibha Khosla, Principal, MSVV, urged the participants to be seekers and explore uncharted territories to mark out a plan which is truly one's own.

“The 10 trillion dollar goal is not just numerical. It’s about the growth of each citizen.”

- Raunaq Jaisinghani

RISING INDIA

Mr. Raunaq Jaisinghani, an inspiring individual, currently working with the Government of India at the Ministry of Commerce and Industry is a proud Modernite. Having cultivated his passion, he shared insights from the world of start-ups. He opened the eyes of the YLC fellows to the world of success and India’s vibrant ecosystem, home to more than one-fifty thousand start-ups, fostering innovation and also generating at least eleven jobs per start-up.

His words created a kaleidoscope of dreams, ambition and creativity in the minds of the tenacious fellows. He also urged them to think critically. He signed off with his words resonating in the auditorium and the vision of progress flowing in the minds of our friends. And everybody appreciated the fact that, despite working for the government, he did not give off the vibe of a corrupt “Sarkari Babu”, he is a sarkari Babu with a swag!

MANIFESTING AN AFFIRMATION

Manifestation WORKS when you involve all five senses.

-Vidhur Kapur

Mr. Vidhur Kapur, an alumnus of Modern School Vasant Vihar, is a dynamic Indian businessman and the director of O3+ Professional Skincare, India's number one professional skincare brand. His journey from the blue uniform of Modern School to the helm of a successful business is truly inspiring. After graduating in 2009, Mr. Kapur pursued further education at the prestigious University of Manchester. His consistency, resilience, and hard work over a decade have shaped his success, creating an aura of experience around him.

Mr. Kapur addressed the students of Modern School, sharing his belief that thoughts are the architects of destiny. He encouraged the students to manifest their success with all their senses and to remain resilient through life's ups and downs. Despite his success, Mr. Kapur remains grounded, preaching simple practices like beginning each day with gratitude. He emphasized that the goal of an entrepreneur should go beyond just earning money; it should focus on having a fulfilling journey and capturing its essence in the best way possible.

QUIRKY QUOTES.

The 10 trillion dollar goal is not just numerical. It's about the growth of each citizen.

-Raunaq Jaisinghani

Manifestation WORKS when you involve all five senses.

-Vidhur Kapur

You have to be willing to fail to succeed.

INSIGHT

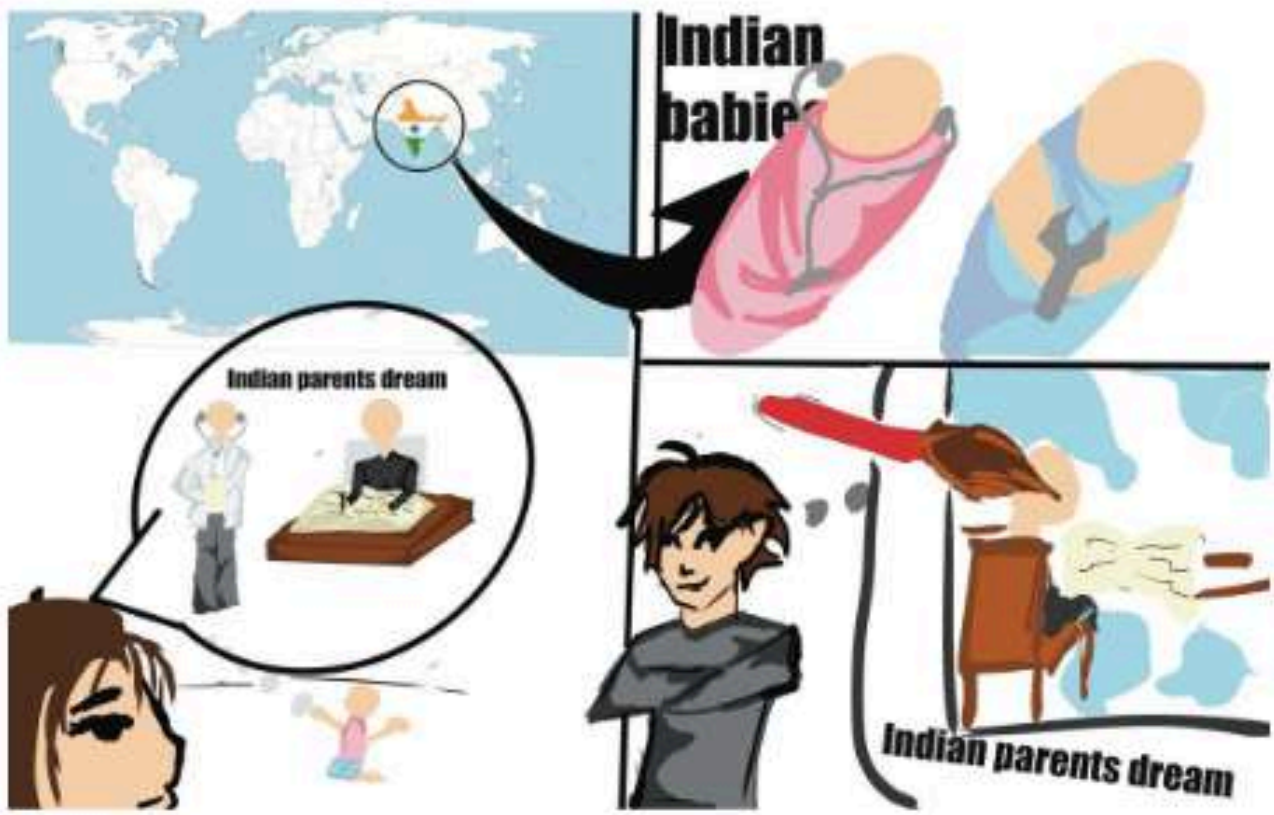

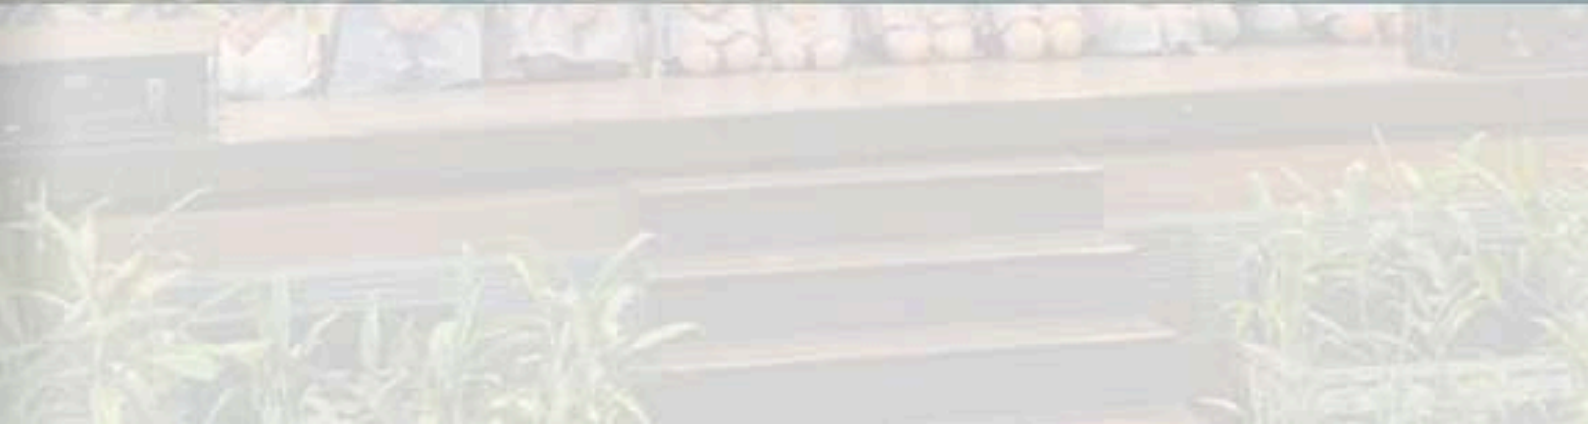

“Leaders are not born, they are created”

Modern School Vasant Vihar recently hosted the 9th edition of the Young Leaders Conclave 2024, bringing together leaders from various schools to explore future opportunities. Despite sudden rains, the event began with an insightful session by Raunaq Singhania, an MSVV alumnus and entrepreneur, who discussed startups in India, the benefits for female entrepreneurs, and introduced the “Startup India” platform. He also announced a 20 lakh rupee investment for promising startups.

Following a tea break and an indoor group photograph, Vidur Kapur, director of O3+, spoke on B2B sectors and rising economic opportunities, emphasizing the power of self-belief and manifestation. The day continued with an engaging talk by Zomato’s director, Kaushik Dutta. He began with a thought-provoking question about the value of a trillion, before delving into Zomato’s journey, the challenges they faced, and how their services, including Grofers and Blinkit, have become essential in daily life. Mr. Dutta also highlighted the evolution of payment methods, such as UPI, and the intricacies of money lending between businesses, offering valuable insights into the rapidly changing landscape of digital commerce. The first day of the Conclave concluded on an inspiring note, despite an unexpected power cut.

Have we convinced you to stay for day two?

DAY 2 2024

ALL IS WELL THAT ENDS WELL

On the fine morning of 13 August 2024, young minds from many schools joined us in the prestigious Essar auditorium for the 2nd day of The YLC 2024. The day began with a beautiful prayer sung by the melodious members of the school choir. The fellows were excited and full of curiosity to learn from the experienced Mr Gaurav Gupta, CCO of MG motors.

The pleasant weather allowed for the proceedings to take place beautifully. Spirits were at an all time high filled with the excitement of learning something new from great minds that were invited for the culmination of the YLC 2024

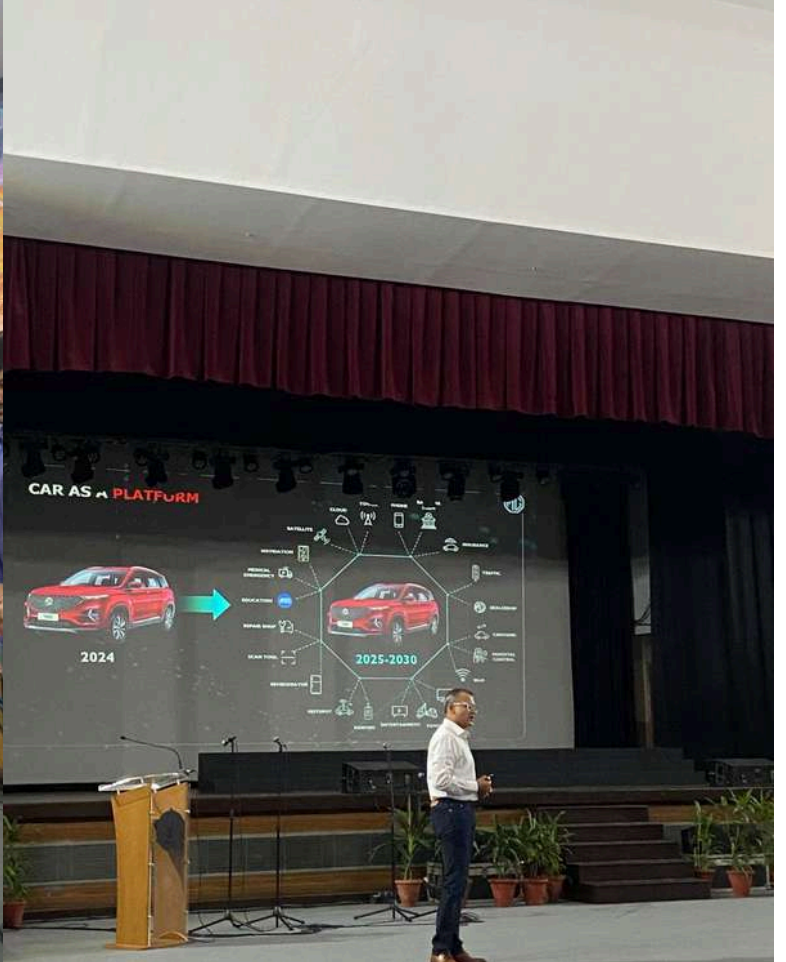

CHARTING THE WAY FOR NEW TECHNOLOGY

CONNECTIVITY, AUTONOMOUS,
SHARED,

-MR. GAURAV GUPTA

Mr. Gaurav Gupta, Chief Commercial Officer of JSW MG Motor India, delivered an insightful session on the future of leadership through the lens of CASE. Drawing from 25 years of experience, he highlighted the significance of Connectivity in technology and user experience, and discussed the future of Autonomous vehicles in India, emphasizing their environmental benefits. Mr. Gupta also touched on the rise of Shared technologies like OLA and Uber, and encouraged embracing Electric vehicles and futuristic technologies like Gen AI. He concluded by emphasizing that true leadership is defined by kindness and grit, urging fellows to focus on adding value rather than just seeking success.

MOD TALK SPARKS CREATIVITY AND LEADERSHIP IN YOUNG MINDS

Day 2 of the Young Leaders Conclave (YLC) featured the MOD talk, showcasing the fellows' creativity and critical thinking. Teams, divided by schools but united in spirit, delivered impressive presentations with unique approaches. The first team used a structured debate format, discussing the sessions by Mr. Raunaq, Mr. Vidur, Mr. Kaushik, and Mr. Gaurav Gupta. The second team proposed practical solutions to identified challenges, highlighting their problem-solving skills. The third team engaged the audience with a creative roleplay in a startup environment. Other teams mixed serious and humorous questions, with memorable moments including a funny query about a melodious chocolate and a humorous observation about earning money from meals. The collaboration of the two Modern Schools added a magical touch, demonstrating the fellows' leadership potential and creativity.

How students felt after saying they love talking and math (for once):

But honestly, they're super creative and talented—just look at those ideas!

"Mr. Kaushik Dutta: '50 paise per meal, 18 crores a year... Sounds huge, right?'"
But when you're planning Dua Lipa concerts and dreaming of Taylor Swift, it's just pocket change!

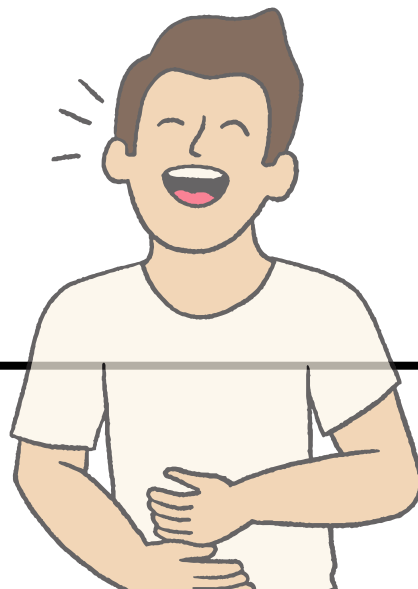

Even in the most serious discussions, a little humor goes a long way—because sometimes, a good joke is the perfect way to lighten the mood!

"When the MOD Talk gets so intense..."

“LOG KYA
KEHENGE’,
HAS KILLED A MILLION DREAMS”

- Mr. Vidur Kapur, O3+ Skincare

Our budding young leaders were transported not just from Delhi to Noida, but also to a new world as they were introduced to the offices of O3+ Skincare, one of the leading Indian skincare brands.

After the riveting session with Mr. Vidur Kapur the field trip felt like an extension of their newly acquired knowledge and the exposure that dreams are made of.

Mr. Kapur emphasised on the open design of the office, where each department coexists and works in full transparency and collaboration. The students were graciously exposed to the manufacturing area, where they witnessed the action and hard work of brilliant minds, first hand.

Overall, the field trip was an extremely thoughtful edition to the Conclave. Students allowed to immerse themselves in a real life economic and corporate setting to further conceptualise the main agenda.

GOODBYES ARE ALWAYS DIFFICULT, AREN'T THEY?

Ms. Vibha Khosla, Principal, Modern School Vasant Vihar, addressed the fellows with her motivating insights. She implored them to take their ideas and learnings forward with rock solid research and commitment.

The address was followed by a felicitation of well earned certificates. The fellows then enjoyed a delicious feast.

Finally, with their dreams having earned new wings, they bid their goodbyes.
